

RelBib Full Text Search

The full text search significantly expands and modernises your search strategy in Rel-Bib. It offers the possibility of a direct and precise search for individual words and phrases in a large digital text corpus.

In addition to a free text search, synonyms of a search term and their translations in several languages are also available. The selection is made simply by using the selection menu to the right of the search bar.

The search can also be restricted to individual types of texts (i.e. table of contents, full text, abstract) and combined with the RelBib facets.

It is also possible to search the full text of a selected individual title.

Description Staff View	Search Full Text

The full text search is offered for commercial and open access content relevant to the study of religion. One of the benefits of the RelBib full text search lies in the fact that – for the first time in an open access environment – resources from different publishers, which are subject to subscription, can be searched simultaneously and legally.

So far, the publishers Brill and Mohr Siebeck have been won as pilot partners. Please note that the full text search is therefore currently only possible for a limited part of the titles indexed in RelBib.
